BRIEF OVERVIEW OF COUNCIL DISTRICT 3

The city of Austin is broken into 10 districts. District 3 extends north to south from Ledesma road to just past Stassney lane, and from west to east from Vinson road to a little beyond U.S. Hwy 183. It includes neighborhoods both north and south of the Colorado River. About 80,000 people live in this district, which is 60% Hispanic/Latino. The majority of residents are between the ages of 18 and 34, and over a quarter of adults aged 25 or older have at least a Bachelor's degree. The median family income for District 3 is $36,000, with most people living in occupied units.

District 3 participates in several city boards and committees such as the Capital Metro Board of Directors and the Planning & Neighborhoods Committee. Sabino "Pio" Renteria has been District 3's City Council member since 2015. He grew up within District 3 limits and has been active in many neighborhood organizations, including the East Austin Neighborhood Center Advisory Board, the United East Austin Coalition, and the East Cesar Chavez Neighborhood Planning Team. His issues of concern are affordability, safety, economic development, and community organization. His term as City Council member ends in January, 2023.

Note: Information compiled using the District 3 website, the City of Austin website, the 2010 Census, and the Office of the City Clerk website.

ARCHITECTURAL ARCHIVES COLLECTION

AUSTIN FILES – BIOGRAPHY: TEXT AND PHOTOGRAPHS

The Austin Files – Biography contain clippings, photos, and ephemera about Austin and Travis County residents who have contributed to the community. Within the files are biographical textual materials about influential musicians, community activists, and civil servants from District 3.

Almanza, Susana	Director of the advocacy group PODER.
Camacho, Danny	Active in the effort to get the Holly Street Power Plant closed. Social activist and active in the East Austin community.
Camacho, Lorraine	Known as “Grandma” Camacho. Her dedication to the East Austin community over the years awarded her many forms of recognition from the neighborhood, the school district, the City of Austin and the State of Texas. For example, Austin Mayor Bruce Todd proclaimed September 15, 1991 as Lorraine Castro Camacho Day to recognize her commitment to the Austin community.
Degollado, Johnny	East Austin Conjunto accordionist who helped the spread of Tejano music in Austin.
Duran, Fidencio	Artist and art educator who painted murals at Parque Zaragoza Recreation Center. Other locations in Austin where his work has been featured publicly include the Montopolis Neighborhood Center and Holly Street Power Plant.

Guerrero, Raul “Roy” G.	Deputy Director of the Austin Parks and Recreation Department and resident of East Austin. The man after whom Guerrero Park was named.
Hernandez, Nash	East Austin Conjunto trumpeter. The founder of Austin’s longest running big band, the Nash Hernandez Orchestra.
Martinez, Robert Townes Jr.	Police officer known as “the Legend,” who worked in East Austin on the Hispanic Crimes Unit, and in gang prevention.
Ramos, Alfonso	Brother of Ruben Ramos and another influential Mexican-American musician from the Govalle neighborhood.
Ramos, Ruben	Influential Chicano musician from East Austin. Was at the forefront of “la Onda Chicana,” the Chicano music movement, in the 1970s and 1980s.

AUSTIN FILES – HOUSE/BUILDING: TEXT AND PHOTOGRAPHS

The Austin Files – House/Building contains clippings, reports, and ephemera related to structures in Austin and Travis County. Arranged by street address.

Many addresses within the District 3 boundaries can be found in the House/Building files. They mostly contain demolition reports made by the Austin Historic Preservation Office. Specific addresses can be requested at the Austin History Center for more information.

GENERAL COLLECTION

The General Collection contains books, pamphlets, and local government reports. Titles are arranged by call number. Yearbooks are listed separately at the end of the list.

This list is by no means an exhaustive list of every title held by the Austin History Center that relates to Council District 3; that can be accomplished by a keyword search in the Austin Public Library online catalog. This list is an attempt to identify General Collection items that provide a historical perspective or address places, events, organizations, and people involved in District 3. The books, reports, analyses, and other textual materials in this list concern the combined district, but also specific neighborhoods, as well as various corporations, environmental features, and community fixtures from District 3.

PERIODICALS

The Periodicals Collection includes newspapers, magazines, and newsletters published in or about Austin and Travis County. The collection is arranged alphabetically by title. Titles can be found by looking in the Periodical Index, located in the Reading Room. Date spans are listed in order to give the researcher an idea of what is available but this does not mean that the entire run of a periodical for that date span is necessarily available.

The bulk of the periodicals relevant to District 3 concern or were published by St. Edward's University and its various student clubs and associations. There are also periodicals published by some of the local schools and neighborhood associations dealing with issues that concerned them.

The Austin History Center has on microfilm a complete run of the Austin American-Statesman (AAS) since its founding in 1871. Refer to the following guide for more information about the AAS and how to access it: Austin American Statesman Resource Guide.
